Procedures for Electing Directors (Draft)

Bobcat Trail HOA

Background: The Bobcat Trail HOA has long been using a process for the election of Directors that does not conform to our governing documents (master declaration and bylaws). Our new management company, Sentry Management, advised us to adopt procedures consistent with the governing documents to avoid challenges to our elections. This document proposes an election process that conforms to the governing documents and as consistent as possible with the process homeowners are accustomed to.

- Before the beginning of the calendar year (November or December meeting), the Board of Directors may, at its discretion, appoint a Nominating Committee of three members to prepare a slate of nominations; two non-Directors, and one Director whose term is not expiring. If a nominating committee is not appointed, the Secretary handles the process with Board oversight. Directors are encouraged at this time to indicate whether they intend to be candidates for an additional term.
- Sixty (60) days[1] before the usual date of the Annual Meeting (the second Monday in March), the Nominating Committee publicly solicits Members of the HOA to submit a Notice of Intent to Run and optional CV to the Nominating Committee by the end of January. The Nominating Committee will be empowered to draft "blast emails" to the community for this purpose.
- Any Director whose term is expiring must submit a Notice of Intent to be included in the list of Candidates.
- If there is to be any consideration of changing the size of the Board of Directors, it must be placed on the agenda for the Annual Meeting before the agenda is posted and distributed at least 30 days before the meeting. The agenda should be finalized at the January Board meeting.
- The Nominating Committee vets the candidates only for eligibility and submits a list of candidates, ideally at least one for each open seat[2], to the Management Company for inclusion in the mandatory 30-day written notice for the Annual Meeting.
- The Management Company prepares the ballot, enumerating the Candidates alphabetically by surname, and space for write-ins.
- At the Annual Meeting, if there is a proposal to change the size of the Board of Directors, it should be voted on before Directors are elected.[3]
- At the Annual Meeting, additional nominations may[4] be made and seconded from the floor, at the discretion of the Board.
- Each Member casts a ballot, voting for as many nominees as there are open seats on the Board. The candidates with the highest vote counts are elected to be Board. Candidates with the most votes are appointed to available two-year terms; the rest are appointed to one-year

---

[1] Sixty days notice is not required by the bylaws but has been used by the Association for nearly its entire existence. Because this notice is not mandatory, expensive written notification is not necessary; email and other local notices may be used.

[2] "At least one per open seat" is specified in the bylaws.

[3] Per the bylaws, changing the size of the Board requires a membership vote at the Annual Meeting.

[4] According to the attorney presenting at the 3/19/25 board certification seminar attended by Doug, if the governing documents say floor nominations "may" be accepted, it is at the discretion of the Board. The bylaws do require nominations from the floor if the board is increasing in size.

terms. Ties, whether for actual election or two- vs. one-year terms, are broken by lot (for example, drawing names) at the Annual Meeting.

- If there are no more nominees than seats on the Board, the slate can be appointed to the Board without ballots.[5]
- Until the next Annual Meeting/Election, any vacant seats (whether due to lack of candidates or departures from the Board) may be filled by appointment by the sitting Board.

[5] Per Chapter 720, “An election is not required unless more candidates are nominated than vacancies exist”
